What is Sterling Studios?

Sterling Productions along with The Conexus Arts Centre are excited to be presenting shows under The Sterling Studios brand at this amazing venue. The summer program includes 2 weeks of daytime summer camps. The summer camp consists of workshops, music rehearsal, team building and show rehearsals. Our unique supportive atmosphere provides a low student to mentor ratio and allows each youth the opportunity to explore their love of theatre and develop their skills as an individual.

Does my child have to audition?

Sterling Studios is non-audition.

What do you offer?

The opportunity to work with artistic and technical professionals in a world class venue

What workshops will be offered?

Sterling Studios seeks to offer a wide variety of exciting workshops touching on many facets of musical theatre. Workshops will include topics such as Dance, Baton, Sword Fighting just to name 3! They will be taught by a variety of professionals exposing your child to an array of techniques, experiences, and education.

How are you different?

Our program is designed to meet each child where they are at. Our team fosters growth in new talent while challenging more experienced artists, encouraging every participant to be their very best.

What is the time commitment for performers?

Each member will be required to attend the camp times and rehearsal times as listed above. Extra rehearsals may be added with notice.

What is the family commitment?

We do our very best to keep the time commitment to a minimum.

Each family will be expected to volunteer. Volunteering offers you the opportunity to engage with your child and share their passion for theatre.

How important is attendance?

Confidence comes with rehearsal and repetition. Your child will feel more empowered with each rehearsal they attend. Their attendance will impact their involvement in the show.
